

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

01/31/2024

12:00PM

Love is in the air at miSci's Be miValentine on February 14th (Schenectady, NY) The Museum of Innovation and Science (miSci) is hosting a new special evening event this coming Valentine's Day. Be miValentine will take place from 6:00PM to 8:00PM on Wednesday evening, February 14, 2024. Admission is $15 per person for this all-inclusive evening. Tickets are now available on the miSci website for immediate purchase. Couples, families and singles are welcome!

Enjoy a date night under the stars as miSci will be providing a very romantic Love Struck Cosmos -- guided stargazing in the Suits-Bueche Planetarium where your favorite love songs will play as you pop-in and out to stargaze all evening long with your special someone.

Museum visitors will have access to the exhibit gallery to explore our newest exhibits. Try a round of the interactive mini golf course, Engineering the Perfect Shot! and be sure to check out female engineers in Women in GE. The STEAM arcade Design Zone will also be available for entertainment!

miSci Members receive free admission to our Be miValentine event.

For more information visit, www.misci.org and click on PROGRAMS.

###

For more information, please contact:

Peter Gabak Vice President for Advancement
Museum of Innovation and Science/miSci
518-646-6084 cell
peter.gabak@miSci.org